Growth trajectory

NOVOMATIC Group

NOVOMATIC returned to the ICE London show with a booth-busting showcase of new product and innovations that encompasses every single gaming, sports betting and operations sector. G3 attended the NOVOMATIC press conference during the exhibition as the company updated the industry on progress since the pandemic, what lies ahead for the Group's business divisions, and what's the latest exciting content from the industry's biggest provider.

Thomas Graf
Chief Executive Officer
Greentube

"Half year figures show an upwards trend. First half revenues for 2022 rose to €1.3bn, EBIT of €371m and investment over €100m, including the reduction of debt. Our net debt ratio to EBIT fell from 4.8 in 2022 to 1.6. This trend has been continued into the second half of 2022. In 2022, Novomatic also increased its headcount, employing around 22,000 people and sold more than 60,000 electronic gaming devices, with 160,000 on rental and lease agreements and operated around 70,000 in adult gaming and sports betting venues."

Thomas Graf,
CEO Greentube

The last three years, due to the pandemic, has been difficult for the group, primarily as retail operations were closed. Novomatic has over 2,000 gaming operations, including full-scale casinos, electronic casinos, sports betting venues, bingo and adult gaming centres. Once these locations were able to open, however, thanks to the backlog of consumer demand, we saw a tremendous rebound of our retail business. We also concentrated efforts during the pandemic on research and development, creating the new products for launch at ICE 2023. Sales of our products and software solutions, as we move increasing into a software-as-a-service business, grew significantly in both land-based and online sectors.

Officially, 2022 figures will be released for the Novomatic Group in April 2023, but half year figures show an upwards trend. First half revenues for 2022 rose to €1.3bn, EBIT of €371m and investment over €100m, including the reduction of debt. Our net debt ratio to EBIT fell from 4.8 in 2022 to 1.6. This trend has been continued into the second half of 2022.

In 2022, Novomatic also increased its headcount, employing around 22,000 people and sold more than 60,000 electronic gaming devices, with 160,000 on rental and lease agreements and operated around 70,000 in adult gaming and sports betting venues.

A milestone in the history of Novomatic was the acquisition of the Italian concessionaire, HBG. The company is one of the largest operators of AWPs and VLTs in Italy and the acquisition helped Novomatic consolidate the market, which is a trend happening in Italy for the last couple of years. We are proud to be part of this process, having achieved a significant growth boost, not only in the AWPs and VLTs segment, but also in terms of the operations and digital business of HBG, which have been boosted by initiatives from Greentube.

The outlook for 2023 sees Novomatic continue its growth trajectory both organically and un-organically, in the retail and technology space in regulated markets. There are also many soon-to-be-regulated markets in which we intend to play a significant role, which not only includes markets in Europe, but in North America, Africa and Asia.

Greentube is headquartered in Vienna with a headcount of 400 people, 60 different nationalities, covering all aspects of digital gaming, sports betting and skill games. Overall, Greentube employs over 1,000 experts in the digital space, across subsidiaries in 17 countries, with development hubs in The Netherlands, Canada, the US, Malta, the UK and India most recently. The key milestones in 2022 included new product launches, geographical expansion and M&A activity. Growth focus was in the US and Canada, with the entry of our games distribution into the regulated North American online casino market. Starting with New Jersey and last year we added Michigan, Connecticut and Ontario, which means that all markets are playing a significant role in the growth of Novomatic's online business. Greentube is now live with key operators, including DraftKings, BetMGM, Entain Group and Golden Nugget Online, with more in the pipeline as we go live later in 2023 in Pennsylvania, covering all the regulated markets in North America.

One of the latest products developed for the North American market is Diamond Cash, which in Europe it is called Diamond Link, and we have launched a land-based version at ICE in cooperation with APEX Gaming as a mobile first-game. It is a true omni-channel title that has been very successful in North America and more titles will be announced soon as part of a series. In terms of game distribution, we made significant growth by launching games with GameAccount Network (GAN), covering all relevant US markets, in the format of social and real money casino.

Complementing the strength of Novomatic in Italy, Greentube has acquired the online sports betting subsidiary of Novomatic Italy, Admiral Sports, and together with our in-house brand, StarVegas, we are now operating two brands in Italy, consolidating growth under the Admiral brand and online casino with Greentube technology.

Admiral, which is the core group brand for betting and gaming, including arcades, casinos and betting shops, is now also being used in our digital B2C business, under the AdmiralBet brand and we intend this to be a pan-European brand having already been established in Germany, Spain, Italy and Austria. In order to work more closely with Admiral Sports Austria, we have taken onboard a sports betting specialist, Felipe Ladena, who is now the chief sports betting officer with Greentube, leading our international expansion and cooperation with Admiral Sports Betting Group.

On the social gaming side, we saw the launch of another significant social casino, called Bloom Boom Casino, which complements our portfolio of social casino apps, including Game Twist, a combination of online casino and skill games, Gaminator - a famous brand from Novomatic Group, and Slot Park, one of the leading social casino apps across Europe. We have also relaunched a legendary game from Greentube, Ski Challenge, which was popular back when most people were playing online via PC. We now have the mobile relaunch due at the start of the 2023 ski season, with avatars controlled by players on iOS and Android devices.

Partnerships and sponsorships have already been secured with Austrian, German, Swiss and French ski associations, promoting in their respective countries - and our key sponsor is Red Bull. We have around 135,000 monthly users and this season we aim to reach 500,000 users, representing a new era for Greentube. It is targeted at ski enthusiasts, but it's also aimed at the esports market too.

Another area Greentube is proudly working with is lotteries. We have around 20 lottery customers from Europe and North America and we recently received WLA supplier certification for our omni-channel server-based gaming solution, Plurius. Plurius is a unique product as you can play from a single wallet; taking your game from your mobile phone to a terminal, playing from the same player account. It is an interesting solution for lotteries, with Plurius currently live in Luxembourg, and we plan further installation in new markets in the near future.

In 2022, the M&A activity of Greentube was at its highest ever level. Significant acquisitions in the technology space included a US-based development company, complementing our activities in Las Vegas and Nevada to grow our game portfolio in the US, specifically when bigger states such as California, New York and Florida open to online casino games.

On the resources side, we acquired a software house in Slovenia with around 50 specialist developers who have worked with Greentube on projects for a long time, which gives us 100 per cent capacity for future growth in the areas of platform and game development.

We also acquired igaming platform, Alteatec, a company based in Malta with additional hubs in India and the Balkans. This state-of-the-art igaming platform is already in widespread use in the German online gaming market, with customers in the private gaming space and in the lotteries sector in Germany. Alteatec was one of the first platforms to be accredited by the German gaming regulator, and will now be used in new jurisdictions in Europe and South America.

A highlight in the game distribution and development framework space is our new remote game server technology that allows us to distribute our portfolio of over 400 titles to all the regulated markets worldwide. We have developed a meta-level of features including different types of jackpots, tournaments, marketing, gamification and retention tools and secondary currencies that can be selected within the game. We are also very closely working with responsible gaming companies and our programmes in social governance and going green is very important to the business."

A decade ago, the Novomatic Group did not operate in the UK market. We had a technology business, but no gaming operations. However, we saw an opportunity to get involved in the business of electronic casinos, or as it was called at the time, gaming arcades. We saw this as an opportunity in the UK market, embarking upon a journey of acquisitions over several years. We completely changed the arcade business in the UK, turning it into an electronic gaming experience - an electronic casino. It was a customer journey that was a radical departure from the norm in the UK.

We now have over 250 stores with 3,000 employees, all under the Admiral brand. Around 33 per cent of our floors is comprised of NOVOMATIC Product, though our strategy is to always offer the best possible games on the floor. We have nearly 20,000 machines in operation, and if you compare 2019 to 2022 - we almost trebled our bottomline profits. Last year was an incredible year for Novomatic UK, which saw revenues in excess of £250m.

An interesting statistic about our operations is that we account for 17 over cent of the venues in the UK, around 37 per cent of the machines, but we generate nearly 50 per cent of the GGR - which gives you an idea of the quality of the business we operate in the UK.

We've always had annual growth rates since 2015 of seven-eight per cent consistently in the UK. What we have shown is that arcades are anything but dead. It has been an incredible growth story for us and we are immensely proud of the business. We continue to grow, mostly organically, but with some acquisitions. We will never stop growing. It is part of our DNA, we will always look to improve our offer, be that content, customer journey, food and beverage, look and feel - we have a constant update programme in all of our venues.

We are probably the best performing, pound for pound, operations business in the Novomatic Group right now, of which we are immensely proud. We also have a very interesting technology business in the UK. We have spearheaded Novo-Server-Supported Gaming, NSSG, which is a networked terminal system, which connects to gaming machines via a network. We download content through our entertainment studio, which reports remote diagnostics, we flight new games to the front screen, we change the menu remotely.

Many of these developments already take place elsewhere, but this is a new initiative in the UK jointly-developed with Novomatic in Austria. As a result of this success, we have now networked over two-thirds of casino gaming machines in the UK. We have in excess of 65 per cent market share in UK casino machines supply and we are rapidly growing in AWP, where we are deploying the same technology in the B3 category, and ultimately in the future in Cat. C.

Zane Mersich
Chief Executive Officer
NOVOMATIC UK

"Based on what we know about the incoming UK Gaming Act, we are positive about the changes expected to take place. We are hoping that an additional allocation of slot machines are allowed beyond the current allocation from the 1968 gaming act, which is something we have been pushing towards an industry for a long time. In busy UK casinos, the arbitrary 20 machines limit, is not enough. We have situations in casinos with players queuing to play machines, and players unable to leave their seat too for fear of losing their spot. We hope the White Paper addresses this."

Zane Mersich,
CEO, NOVOMATIC UK

We also have a very lively ETG business, largely roulette, in which we have in excess of 60 per cent marketshare in the UK. We have developed fantastic content, including Lucky Lady's Roulette, which has been a great success as it rolls out to UK casinos and is now rivalling the performance of traditional roulette - something we thought we'd never see.

We also have the Going for Gold product, we have a wide area network solution connected to over 1,000 terminals and we have also launched our live dealer studio in Middlesbrough where we have roulette and blackjack playing 24/7 in a studio which is pumped into the electronic table solution via a wide-area network. We are pushing ahead in innovation and development to develop the best type of product.

Another area of responsibility for Novomatic UK is our Dutch business, in which we have a similar setup as the UK, but additionally also have game development and single site operations, making us the third largest operator in The Netherlands. We are also the largest operator of single sites, with around 40 per cent of the market. We have just launched our new Dutch super product in selected sites. It is an exciting market and we are in it for the long-term in Holland.

Based on what we know about the incoming UK Gaming Act, we are positive about the changes expected to take place. We are hoping that an additional allocation of slot machines are allowed beyond the current allocation from the 1968 gaming act, which is something we have been pushing towards an industry for a long time. In busy UK casinos, the arbitrary 20 machines limit, is not enough. We have situations in casinos with players queuing to play machines, and players unable to leave their seat too for fear of losing their spot. We hope the White Paper addresses this.

Another aspect is the wait and see online gambling legislation. Will there be an element of stake and prize? It seems likely, but the devil is in the detail. I hope the government takes a rational and sensible evidence-based approach, finding a middle ground that achieves their goals without stifling the industry. Anecdotally, the level of problem gambling is as low as they have ever been.

I don't see the AWP changing much - nor the adult gaming sector and the LBO space will continue. We have asked for a relaxation of the 80/20 rule*, which is massively energy-inefficient. As we all pay more for our energy - we don't see it going back to price per kilowatt hour of the past. It will fall, but we need to be more energy efficient and the 18/20 rule is not in step with this agenda.

We are operating an estate of 20,000 machines, when in fact we could reduce that number by 4-5,000 machines, if we were able to provide our customers with what they want. 80/20 legislation is consuming millions of pounds of energy on an annual basis does not make any sense as is best utilised elsewhere in the grid.

This is probably going to be the most interesting of Gambling Acts in recent times as it corrects past anomalies, and aligns legislation for the future. We are probably the only industry in the world that is unable to adjust its prices according to inflation. The stakes in the UK has been set in excess of 10 years while compounding inflation rates has meant that are prices have not reflected the marketplace and we have not been able to capture back those inflationary costs. I think these are anomalies that need to be addressed.

* The 80/20 rule in the UK means that operators must operate 80 per cent of their floor with lower category machines to qualify for the maximum 20 per cent of category B3 machines on their floors.

ICE London 2023 – Die größte Gaming-Messe war ein herausragender Erfolg für NOVOMATIC

NEWS, MEDIEN, AGENTUREN, ADVERTORIAL | 05.03.2023

Nach einer enorm erfolgreichen Messe zieht NOVOMATIC Bilanz: Die größte Gaming-Messe erwies sich als beste, erfolgreichste und bei weitem größte ICE aller Zeiten.

Neben dem erfolgreichen Messeauftritt freute sich NOVOMATIC auch über zwei erste Plätze in wichtigen Kategorien bei den renommierten European Casino Awards.

Im Nachhinein war man sich einig: Die drei Tage auf der ICE London 2023 waren viel zu schnell vorbei. Damit musste auch der prächtige neue NOVOMATIC-Messestand wieder abgebaut werden. Doch die Erinnerung an die in jeder Hinsicht größte ICE aller Zeiten wirkt nachhaltig: 51.466 Quadratmeter Fläche, geschätzte Besucherzahlen von über 40.000 – und für NOVOMATIC die erfolgreichste Glücksspielmesse aller Zeiten.

Die Besucher waren überwältigt von dem völlig neuen Standdesign auf dem größten Stand der Messe, das mit neuer schwarzer Eleganz, unter dem diesjährigen Messemotto von NOVOMATIC – "BLACK IS BACK", eine hervorragende Sichtbarkeit der verschiedenen Standbereiche für die unterschiedlichen Industriesegmente und Märkte schuf: Landbased Casino- und AWP-Produkte und -Systeme, Casino-Management-Systeme einschließlich biometrischer Technologien für moderne Zugangslösungen und sichere Cash Handling-Lösungen sowie Sportwetten- und iGaming-Lösungen und vieles mehr.

Am ersten Messetag wurde ein Blockbuster-Spiel von NOVOMATIC bei den European Casino Awards als stolzer Gewinner in der Kategorie "Best Slot Game" ausgezeichnet.

Ein weiterer erster Platz bei den European Casino Awards ging in der Kategorie "Best CMS/Software Product" an das Casino-Management-System NOVOVISION™. Das leistungsstarke System wurde im Zentrum des NOVOMATIC-Standes präsentiert und demonstrierte sein umfangreiches Instrumentarium für effizientes Casino-Management. Die Funktionalitäten umfassen eine breite Palette von Möglichkeiten zur Automatisierung, detaillierten Analyse und ausgefeilten Leistungsoptimierung, die alle Verantwortungen und Anforderungen des modernen Casinobetriebs in Bezug auf Spielerschutz, Responsible Gaming und Meldepflichten berücksichtigen sowie moderne biometrische Zutrittslösungen und innovatives Player Tracking sogar für Live-Spieltische bereithalten.

Gesunde Mitarbeiter als Erfolgsfaktoren

Es gibt für Firmen viele Möglichkeiten, ihre Angestellten auf Trab zu halten. Das bringt Vorteile für beide Seiten.

VON CHRISTOPH DWORAK

BEZIRK MÖDLING Den Themen „Ergonomie & Gesundheit am Arbeitsplatz“ nimmt sich beim weltweit tätigen Glücksspielkonzern Novomatic mit Sitz in Gumpoldskirchen ein hausinterner Ergotherapeut an.

Neben regelmäßigen Bewertungen gibt es Beratungen und Workshops zu den Themen Rückengesundheit, Arbeitshaltung, Ausgleich und Bewegung. Zudem stehen aktive Pausen an; ein Schwerpunkt liegt auch bei den jüngsten Mitarbeiterinnen und Mitarbeiter, den Lehrlingen: Sie werden in Ergonomie-Grundlagen und interaktiven Workshops besonders geschult. Sämtliche Aktivitäten liegen in der organisatorischen Verantwortung eines eigenen Novohealth-Teams. Unter anderem gibt es die Möglichkeit zur Muttermalkontrolle (Melanom-Vorsorge), Wirbelsäulendiagnostik, Gesundenuntersuchung, Impfaktionen, Hallenfußball, Teilnahme an Laufveranstaltungen, einen Skitag und den jährlichen, groß angelegten Gesundheitstag („Company Day“).

Novomatic-Prokurist Stefan Krenn hält „gut ausgebildete und vor allem gesunde Mitarbeiterinnen und Mitarbeiter für die größten Erfolgsfaktoren. Darum investieren wir in zahlreiche Gesundheitsmaßnahmen und -aktivitäten im Headquarter sowie an unseren anderen Standorten“.

Für die beiden Mödlinger Industriebetriebe „Knorr-Bremse“ und „Dr. techn. Josef Zelisko“ ist das Wohlbefinden der rund 800 Mitarbeiterinnen und Mitarbeiter sehr wichtig. Die Unternehmen bieten daher seit vielen Jahren mit KBA-FIT ein umfangreiches Sportprogramm an. An verschiedenen Standorten in der Region kann die Belegschaft kostenlos Sport betreiben. Das gut besuchte Angebot reicht derzeit von Tennis, Squash und Badminton über Schwimmen und Klettern bis hin zu Yoga. Beliebt sind vor allem die Laufveranstaltungen, an denen gemischte Teams teilnehmen, wie der Business Run in Wien oder der Anningerlauf. Heuer soll es wieder ein Tennisturnier geben, auch der Skitag soll im nächsten Winter wieder veranstaltet werden.

Sport gilt auch als Vernetzungsplattform

„Beim Sport kommen Kolleginnen und Kollegen aus den verschiedensten Unternehmensbereichen zusammen“, erklärt KBA-FIT-Leiterin Claudia Christian, Assistentin der Geschäftsführung. Das Programm fördere „nicht nur die Fitness, sondern auch das Kennenlernen und die bessere, abteilungsübergreifende Vernetzung“. Nicht zu vergessen auf die gesunde Ernährung: Im Betriebsrestaurant wird täglich zumindest ein vegetarisches Menü angeboten, frische Salate stehen ebenfalls zur Auswahl. Dazu gibt es stilles und sprudelndes Wasser zur freien Entnahme.

„Mit.Einander“ in Bewegung

Unter dem Motto „Mit.Einander in Bewegung bleiben“ bietet die Raiffeisen Regionalbank Mödling ihren 208 Mitarbeitern jährlich ein umfangreiches Gesundheitsprogramm.

Dazu zählen Gratisimpfungen sowie Vorsorgeuntersuchungen. Auch die vielseitige Gesundheitsvorsorge-Palette der Arbeiterkammer wie der Health-Truck, Vorträge bzw. Webinare („Endlich rauchfrei“, „Langfristig abnehmen“, etc.) werden aktiv angeboten.

Sogar während der Lockdowns wurden Kurse wie Afterwork-Bodyweight, Yoga oder Pilates im Online-Training durch die Raiffeisen Sportunion angeboten, um den Mitarbeiterinnen und Mitarbeitern im Homeoffice physischen sowie psychischen Ausgleich zu schaffen.

Siegel für betriebliche Gesundheitsförderung

Des Weiteren umfasst das Gesundheitsprogramm kostenlose Beratungsstunden zur Wahrung der mentalen Gesundheit. Dazu wird ein Expertenpool an Psychologen, Psychotherapeu-

Greentube calls ICE London "a massive success" for the brand in its event recap

Online gaming provider Greentube has shared its assessment of the recent ICE London 2023 expo, held February 7-9 at ExCel London. The company – Novomatic's digital gaming division – has deemed the event "a massive success" for the brand, and shared a recap video that shows what Greentube had to offer for ICE's latest edition.

"We made a huge splash for ICE London 2023, as we invited attendees to take a deep dive into the Home of Games and discover some of our most exciting upcoming online casino games, like Diamond Tales: The Little Mermaid, Manic Potions and Cash Connection – Candelas de los Muertos – Señorita Suerte!" said the company in a press statement.

Over the course of the three days, Greentube's games experts, sales representatives, and industry specialists also presented attendees with other highlights coming in 2023, as well as an insight into what people can look forward to from the Diamond Link and Diamond Mystery slot series, as well as the Cash Connection series.

At ICE London, Greentube showcased its latest products at Booth S7-130 at what has been described as "the biggest ICE ever in every aspect" by parent company Novomatic. The expo had 51,466 square meters of floor space, and its visitor count exceeded 40,000, according to figures provided by Clarion Gaming, the event's organizer.

Ahead of ICE, Yogonet held an exclusive interview with Michael Bauer, Greentube's Chief Games Officer and Chief Financial Officer, in which the executive explained the importance of the expo for the brand and discussed plans for the year. "North America is a strong focus for us and a region with a real appetite for our products," he stated. You can revisit it here.

It's been a busy few days for Greentube since ICE London ended. In addition to attending the global summit, this month, the company has also inked a deal to take its iGaming content live with TonyBet in Latvia; and earned a German nationwide online gaming license through its StarGames brand.

Greentube Adds Win Ways Mechanic to Book of Ra Deluxe

The company is bringing the powerful innovative mechanic to one of its top-performing games of all times

NOVOMATIC's Gaming and Entertainment division has welcomed the opportunity to enhance the classic Book of Ra Deluxe game with the addition of the highly-esteemed Win Ways mechanic which allows for more paylines to be added to the reels.

The Popular Franchise Gets a Powerful Feature Boost

In a way, Win Ways resembles the Megaways mechanic but with its own twist, of course. Thanks to the addition of the Win Ways feature into Book of Ra Deluxe, the game will now come with up to six reels and 117,648 paylines.

The feature adds an extra reel above the main game grid, and winning symbols on that new reel will trigger a trickle-down effect translating into payouts for players across the board. If players get bonus scatter symbols on the reels, they will be awarded 10 free spins that are granted instantly and trigger the bonus round immediately.

Each new bonus symbol that comes across the reels will trigger additional five spins. The bonus level will also feature a special expanding symbol that is selected at random and helps the players along. This symbol can then add more heft to every spin and boost your winnings even more.

Players to Benefit from the Win Ways Mechanic Big Time

Greentube director of games development and operations Steve Cross has welcomed the opportunity to add the unique mechanic to the esteemed franchise. He noted that Book of Ra is one of the best-performing series in iGaming and incorporating the Win Ways mechanic into it is another step forward.

"The team did a great job on this title, and we can't wait for players to get their hands on it," Cross assured. All the while, Greentube has been looking to actively expand its presence in regulated iGaming markets.

The supplier has signed partnerships with StarGames.de in Germany and TonyBet in Latvia, both important markets in Europe. Greentube has also secured a supplier license in Connecticut and is looking to expand its clout in North America.

Greentube enhances timeless classic with Book of Ra™ deluxe: Win Ways™

Greentube, the NOVOMATIC Gaming and Entertainment division, has enhanced its portfolio of classic games by introducing the Win Ways™ mechanic to one of its most iconic releases, Book of Ra™ deluxe.

The Austrian provider has boosted the immortal hit with an impressive number of ways to win, leading to the creation of six-reel, 117,649 payline Book of Ra™ deluxe: Win Ways™.

Featuring an additional reel directly above the main game reels, Book of Ra™ deluxe: Win Ways™ sees winning symbols removed from gameplay, allowing for chain reactions as new symbols fall into place.

Should three bonus scatter symbols land on the reels, a total of 10 free spins will automatically be awarded. Every additional bonus scatter that lands will award a further five free spins.

During the Free Games feature, one symbol is randomly selected from the Book of Ra to become an expanding symbol. Expanding symbols can cover all positions on the game reels, including those on the additional top reel.

Special bonus scatter symbols may also appear on the top reel during the Free Games feature, with three symbols awarding five additional spins and four symbols awarding 10 additional spins.

Steve Cross, Director of Games Development and Operations at Greentube, said: “The demand for our esteemed Book of Ra™ franchise remains unquenchable. It was only natural, therefore, for us to incorporate Book of Ra™ with the highly sought-after Win Ways™ mechanic. The team did a great job on this title and we can’t wait for players to get their hands on it.”

Greentube was present at ICE London 2023 earlier this month. The company has now published an assessment of its experience at the event, and deemed it "a massive success" for the brand, as they shared a recap video that shows what Greentube had to offer for ICE's latest edition.

"We made a huge splash for ICE London 2023, as we invited attendees to take a deep dive into the Home of Games and discover some of our most exciting upcoming online casino games, like Diamond Tales: The Little Mermaid, Manic Potions and Cash Connection – Candelas de los Muertos – Señorita Suerte!" said the company in a press statement.

Ainsworth 2H revenue rises to US$83mln, Asia only 0.5pct

Australia-listed slot machine maker Ainsworth Game Technology Ltd reported an after-tax profit of AUD5.9 million (US$4.0 million) for the six months ended December 31, down 35.2 percent in year-on-year terms. The company had posted an after-tax profit of AUD2.7 million for the first half of 2022.

Ainsworth said in a filing on Monday that its group-wide revenue rose by 23.2 percent year-on-year, to AUD124.1 million (circa US$83.3 million). Revenue was up 3.8 percent sequentially.

Asia accounted for slightly under 0.5 percent of Ainsworth's revenue in the reporting period. Revenue from Asian markets stood at AUD570,000 for the six months ended December 2022, most of it coming from sale either of gaming machines or parts for them. The company did not provide a year-on-year comparison: it only stated that revenue originating from Asian markets had amounted to AUD674,000 in the 12 months ended June 30, 2022, or 0.3 percent of Ainsworth's total revenue.

In June last year, Ainsworth announced it was changing the company's financial year-end, from June 30 to December 31. This was in order to align its reporting schedule "with its overseas operations and business cycles," as well as with the financial year-end of Novomatic AG. Austria-based Novomatic controls a 52-percent stake in Ainsworth.

Ainsworth posted a AUD75,000 segment loss for its Asia operations in the six months ended December 2022. Asia was the only regional operation posting a segment loss.

Ainsworth said there had been "minimal contribution" from Asia and Europe to its overall revenue during the second half of 2022, "as these markets continued to emerge slowly post Covid-19 lockdowns".

Company-wide earnings before interest, taxation, depreciation and amortisation (EBITDA) were AUD14.9 million, versus AUD24.6 million in the prior-year period, said the gaming supplier. EBITDA for the first six months of 2022 had stood at AUD12.5 million.

No dividend was declared for the latest reporting period. The firm said that "dividend continues to be suspended to provide strong liquidity to allow the company to continue to invest in research and development to deliver competitive products and to navigate the uncertainties in global supply chain shortages and continuing inflationary cost pressures."

Harald Neumann, Ainsworth's chief executive, said in prepared remarks that the group's performance "continued to improve through the year driven by [casino property] re-openings and recovery in many of our major international markets."

He added: "I am confident that the investment we have made to fundamentally upgrade our technology, hardware and improve game performance is expected to deliver further improvements in our results."

"I am very pleased to welcome StarGames as a new partner," said Hopp.

// ICE SLOT SHOWCASE

NOVOMATIC: EXPECT EXCELLENCE

It's three years since there was a significant turnout of land-based suppliers at ICE London. Which slots will you be showing that you didn't have in 2020? What are your expectations about how they will be received and what do they offer to operators?

There will be quite a few cabinets on the Novomatic stand that we didn't have in 2020, says Thomas Schmalzer, Novomatic's VP global sales and product management (pictured).

Last year's launches, Diamond X 2.32 and Diamond X 1.55J, will be on display for the first time at ICE 2023 in a jackpot set-up with a range of linked progressive content.

These magnificent cabinets have been introduced in a multi-screen version and a 55ins J-curve version, both of which have all that it takes for gaming beyond expectations.

Refined details like the modern front door panel with the characteristic facelift of the grill, the large footwell, two XL start buttons with an optional TouchDeck player interface as well as the indirect LED lighting concept with intelligent game-synched colour effects, which complement and contrast against the black metro finish, create a sophisticated blend of ergonomics and ambience.

Brand new at this year's show will be the Black Edition II series with three distinct machines, namely Black Edition II 3.27 with two 27ins game screens and a 27ins topper, Black Edition II XL 3.32 with the same set-up in 32ins but the topper optional and Black Edition II 1.49J with a 49ins J-curve monitor.

Under the motto "Black is back", these three introduce the Black Edition II as the righteous successor of the hugely popular Black Edition cabinet. All three models deliver cutting-edge cabinet design, perfectly angled screens and a razor-sharp game presentation against the backdrop of a black metro finish and a contrasting LED ambient lighting concept.

They have been designed and developed with the aim of replicating the success of the original Black Edition and in addition offer more modern choices for the specific preferences of the operators and their guests. Expectations are therefore quite high, of course; operators should expect excellent performance from these cabinets and a fast return on their investment.

Another new slot machine that premieres at ICE 2023 is the Master SL 3.32, which introduces a masterful and modern slant top design for video slots. One slanted 32ins game monitor on the terminal, one 32ins upright screen and an additional 32ins optional topper create an immersive experience in true slant top style that allows operators to utilise a premium machine to create structural variety on their slot floor.

Some traditional casino slot manufacturers are now embracing AWPs. Why do you think this is? AWP markets are highly relevant markets with a strong customer base and very loyal player demographics. Some of the major European markets are strong AWP markets - Germany, Italy, Spain, the Netherlands and many more come to mind. Even Novomatic's own home market of Austria is characterised by a thriving AWP segment.

Novomatic's AWP products have shown outstanding performance in venues across many countries and it makes sense to provide cabinets and content that casino players love in AWP settings and vice versa.

And will the video lottery terminal continue to provide the alternative between AWPs and casino slots?

This, for many markets, is in fact a question of gambling regulation much more than anything else. VLTs are one of multiple alternatives for regulators which come in various technological flavours. VLTs are thus not that much driven by operator or player preferences but by legal market conditions.

The system architecture of VLTs naturally offers numerous advantages for the legislator, such as the centralised network structure that allows for automated and fully transparent reporting routines. This segment has always been a strong pillar of Novomatic's growth strategy as a technology provider as well as partner to regulators and operators worldwide.

We provide high performance products, systems and solutions for all segments and requirements of the international gaming industry - and that, of course, includes VLTs.

What is your strategy when it comes to creating a slot machine portfolio?

Novomatic is in the unique position to have well-diversified business activities as both an operator and a supplier, which means that we know first-hand what kind of products operators in the various markets and segments require to optimise the performance of their venues.

As we cater to all segments from AWP, VLTs and casino style gaming, we provide equipment and content along those lines. Combine this fundamental input from our own business with feedback from third-party customers, as well as the constant monitoring of current trends and player preferences in gaming content and you have a comprehensive picture of where our R&D should be heading.

Our flexibility and fast reaction to market trends or regulatory changes is a key success factor in this respect.

How important is the skill-based element in the modern slot and how do you try to introduce that element?

We see that in selected markets skill-based gaming is an important part of the regulated entertainment industry and as such we also serve such markets with specific product ranges.

We are able to leverage our over 40-year experience in the gaming industry as well as our global synergies to provide tailor-made solutions for specific market regulations in place.

Player immersion is another key element. What's your strategy in linking sound, graphics and ergonomics to create immersion?

Attractive game titles with exciting features and bonuses are the first part of the equation here. Exquisite graphics, diverse game themes, a fitting sound design and engaging gameplay are the key ingredients of that recipe.

On the hardware side, sound, graphics and ergonomics have to lay a top-quality foundation for the game content to create a smooth composition for the most immersive gaming experience.

For every manufacturer, much of this begins with economic considerations regarding the quality and price of procurement parts, because sound and graphics stand and fall with the quality of the audio and video components and Novomatic aims high in terms of quality to achieve an optimal presentation of the game. Machine ergonomics, on the other hand, is based on extensive R&D effort, experience and expert knowledge in cabinet design.

How do you see the casino slot machine of the future? How will it differ from what we have today?

From a player's perspective the trends will depend on the respective market segments. In terms of cabinets and ergonomics of premium products, player comfort combined with modern design, the constant incorporation of newest technologies in audio and video, as well as player immersion will remain crucial. Auxiliary products such as LED signage augmenting the bank's visibility and capturing player interest will keep increasing their importance as well.

From an operator's point of view and a regulatory perspective, we can generally expect that slots of the future will be cashless and fully integrated into a casino management system. We will see more automation of operational processes in terms of customer loyalty programmes, player identification, player protection and access control.

Novomatic is well prepared for this trend with its state-of-the-art Novovision system featuring - beyond those elements - also optional biometric technologies, both for full-scale casino operations as well as smaller slot halls.

For more budget-conscious segments a high-quality standard at competitive pricing as well as operator-relevant machine features will be future elements differentiating successful equipment providers.

With all that being said, content is still king. It also seems linked progressive solutions are part of this trend to a good extent. However, standalone game titles and new concepts will remain an important part of Novomatic's portfolio. We will be constantly innovating and working on new game themes, concepts and features to best meet player tastes and satisfy the hunger for something new.
